"The LaMarr-LeRoy Comedy Co. is playing at the opera house this week and are drawing big crowds. Their work is good; they have elegant costumes and the comedy is all new and clean. They change the program nightly and the crowd is kept in an uproar of laughter all the time. They will give the last performance Wednesday night and go to Coal Creek. We can recommend this show highly."

DR. MASTERS LECTURES AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH

A large and attentive audience listened to the lecture delivered by Dr. J. M. Masters Sunday night at the Baptist church on "Health From A Bible Standpoint." To many that had not given special thought to the subject, much information and new ideas were revealed. Perhaps but few realize the extent to which questions of health are spoken of in the bible and how much was known concerning disease by Moses and other bible writers. Sanitation and isolation of the sick were shown to have been vigorously enforced under the Mosaic laws as means for prevention of disease. The bible as a guide to conduct was forebly presented and the lessons taught by the lecture if heeded would greatly lessen sickness and distress and prolong life. The speaker emphasized his belief that by perfect living, the human family could again in generations to come live as long as in the early history of the race. The lecture was full of thought and information and from the first to the last sentence the audience was intensely interested.

RESOLUTIONS

Council Chamber, Omaha Tribe No. 53. Hunting Grounds of Newport.

We, Chiefs and Members of Omaha Tribe No. 53, Improved Order of Red Men, having heard with feelings of mingled sorrow and regret, of the untimely death of Past Sachem A. C. Vinson of our Tribe which occurred on the evening of July 17, 1911.

Therefore be it resolved that we bow in filial submission to the Great Spirit that removed him from among us.

Resolved, 2. That the Great Council of Tennessee, as well as Omaha Tribe, has lost one of the chief pillars of support and a wise counselor.

Resolved, 3. That in him were exemplified those noble qualities of our fraternity—Friendship, Freedom and Charity. Without which we cannot exist, and that we emulate his virtues as the paragon of social and fraternal perfection.

Resolved, 4. That we sincerely deplore his death; that we extend fraternal sympathy to his household and commend them, in this sad hour of gloom and sorrow, to the mercy of the Great Spirit who doeth all things well.

Resolved, 5. That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the family of the deceased and made a part of the records; also same be published in THE NEWPORT PLAIN TALK.

COMMUNICATED

Sunday night I attended the lecture on "Health," delivered by Dr. Masters at the Baptist church. It was a very unusual lecture. It was notable for its plainness and daring. Dr. Masters never leaves any doubt as to his meaning. He says the things he believes, and it doesn't make a particle of difference to him whether his audience agrees with him or not. I am sure he said a good many things that will be adversely criticised. But that is not the fault of the speaker, but rather the misfortune of the critic.

There were no frills on the speech; no sugar-coating on the bitter truths he spoke; no veiled hints as to his meaning. His talk was eminently frank—at times almost brutal in its plainness. But who will deny the truth of what he said? And who is there that doubts the wisdom and urgent need of plain speech in Newport's present unsanitary condition?

Surely there is need that we have our eyes opened to things as they are, that we may make them as they should be.

The Doctor's message will be received in different ways by different people. Most of the criticism will come from those who did not hear him and who will judge it from garbled reports.

Some will dismiss it with a shrug, and dub the Doctor a crank.

Some will say he exaggerates existing evils while others will accuse him of having selfish motives in making the address. He was no respecter of persons, and his criticisms applied to men and women alike.

If Newport people will seriously reflect on the Doctor's speech and not receive it with carping criticism, much good may come of it.—ONE WHO WAS HIT.

"I have been somewhat costive, but Doan's Regulets gave just the results desired. They act mildly and regulate the bowels perfectly."—George B. Krause, 306 Walnut Ave., Altoona, Pa.
